

RELIGION, HEALTHCARE AND POLITICS IN THE PANDEMIC CONTEXT IN BRAZIL

WOMEN WHO HEAL WOMEN: PENTECOSTAL NARRATIVES IN THE PANDEMIC TIMES

Dr. Sandra Duarte Souza is a Professor in the Religion Science Postgraduate Program at the Methodist University of São Paulo. She holds a PhD in Religions Science and Post-doctorate in Cultural History, working mainly in the fields of Gender and Religions Studies.

INDIGENOUS PEOPLE, PANDEMIC, AND THE EXPRESSIONS OF A POLITICAL-RELIGIOUS COLONIALITY IN BRAZIL

Dr. Clarissa De Franco is a professor of the Religion Science Postgraduate Program and technical psychologist in educational affairs at the Federal University of ABC. She holds a PhD in Religions Science, with a Post-doctorate in Gender Studies and Humanity and Social Studies. Her work is mainly focused on religion and human rights.

Monday, March 21, 2022
4:00 p.m. PST

Zoom ID: 821 7781 2988

